

Transfer Students at a Glance:

Where Are There Opportunities to Serve More Transfer Students?

On average, 20% of incoming students at four-year institutions are community college transfers.

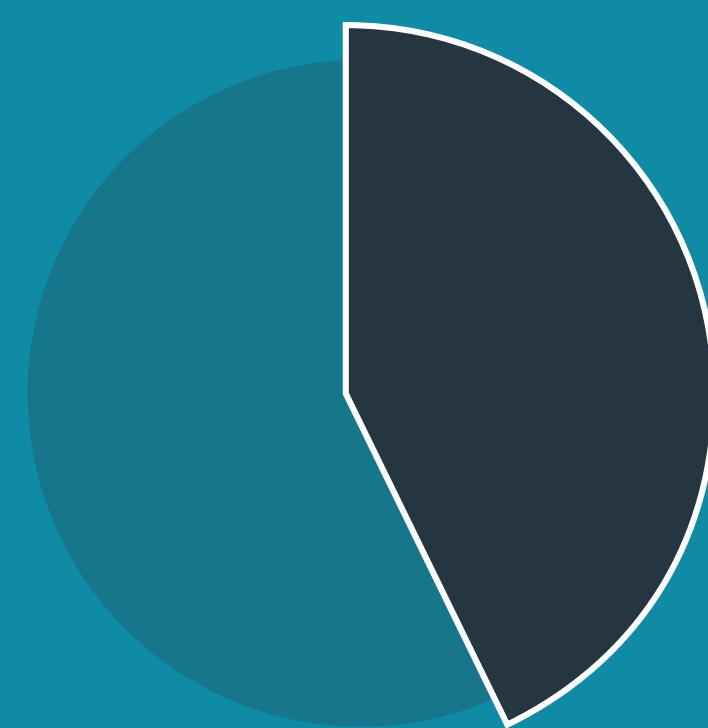

A small number of institutions serve most of these transfer students. Only 31% of all four-year institutions exceed this 20% national average.

By Sector

Transfer students account for more than 20%

of new students at only:

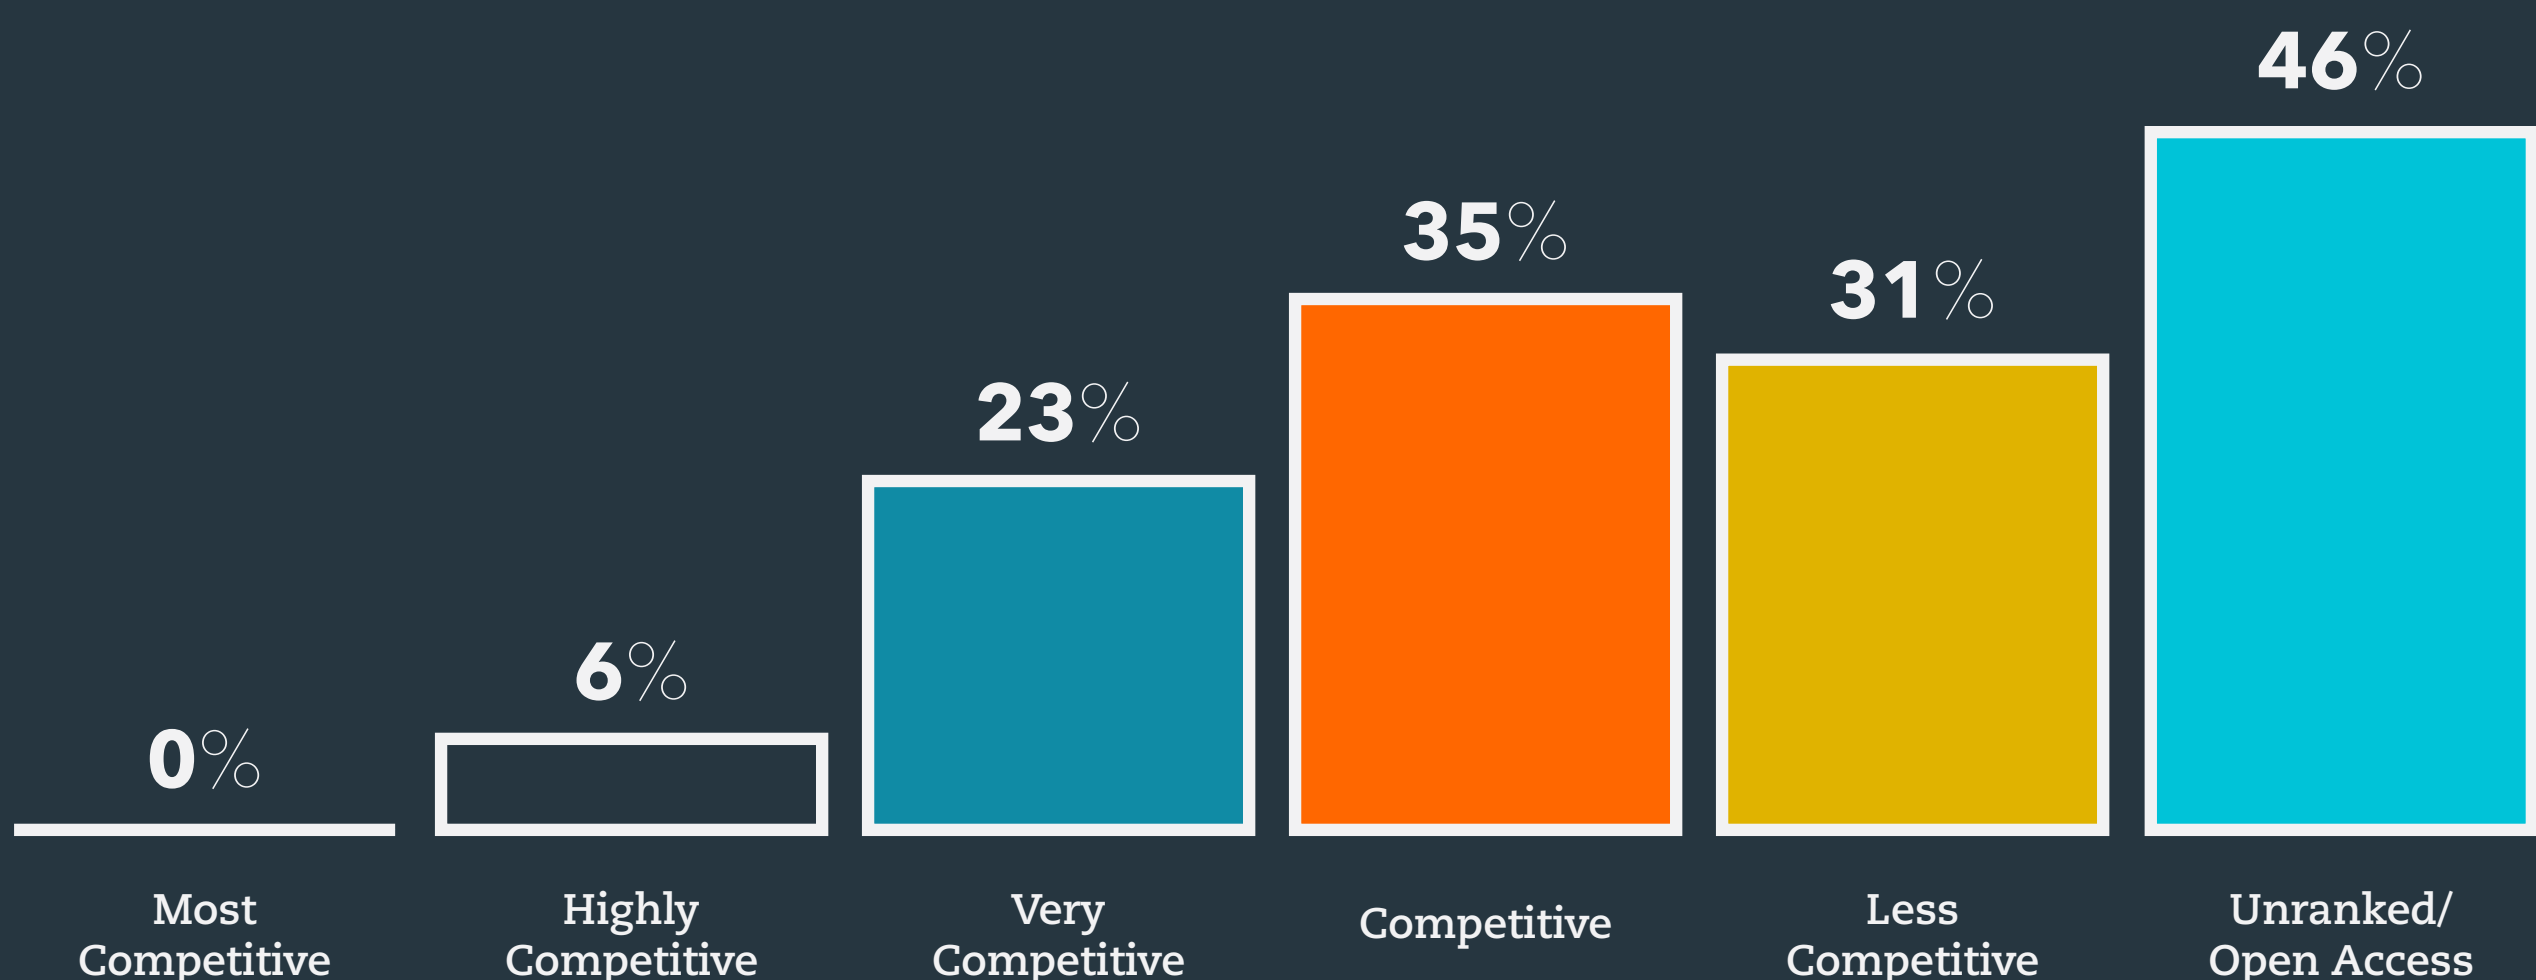

43%
of public institutions

25%
of private institutions

By Selectivity

Transfer students account for more than 20% of new students at:

Looking to learn more about transfer students and ways to support their success? Learn more at higher.ed.aspeninstitute.org/community-college-transfer